1 General Use of Data

1.1 Collecting the Data

- 1.1.1 The Company only uses the collected information, documents, and data for reference. Such information that the Client needs to provide includes, without limitation, full name, address, contact number, and email address. The Company stores all collected data and information for seven years and has the right to store it for a longer period if necessary.
- 1.1.2 In some cases, the Company may collect other personal information from the Client depending on the nature of the appeal or use. These further personal details include, but are not limited to, social security number, account number, mortgage information, and health information. The Company may also collect information regarding the Client's appointment on the Site for security purposes.

1.2 Disclosure of Data

- 1.2.1 The Company does not sell, license, lease, or otherwise disclose the Client's information to any third party or affiliate if not deemed necessary and obligatory.
- 1.2.2 The Company reserves the right to disclose the Client's information if the detail is required to provide the Services and products the Client has requested. The Client's data can also be used to provide him/her an opportunity to participate in the products or services offered by the Company's affiliates.
- 1.2.3 General information of the Client will also be disclosed to affiliates that assist the Company in operating the Site, conducting the Company's business, or servicing the Client.
- 1.2.4 Under certain circumstances, the Company may also disclose information to third parties and regulatory, law enforcement, or other government authorities if required by law.
- 1.2.5 In other instances, information of the Client will be disclosed if:
- If it is required to comply with a legal obligation
 - If it is necessary to protect and defend the Company's rights or property
 - If it is to secure the safety of other Clients
 - If it is to protect the Service or product of the Company, or
 - If it is needed to investigate suspicious trading or financial activities.
- 1.2.6 The Client can obtain his/her personal information that the Company has collected through an email request, subject to the Company's approval.

Trading with currencies, Contracts for Differences (CFDs), and other leveraged products comes with considerable exposure to risks. Additionally, market volatility may substantially affect the price or liquidity of an asset, where it is possible to sustain losses of some or all investments. Therefore, you should carefully assess your investment objectives, experience level, and risk appetite, and you should not use funds more than you are prepared to lose. Before deciding to trade, you should know and accept all the risks of trading in the financial market and seek independent advice if necessary.

1.3 Cookies

- 1.3.1 The Company uses cookies to obtain data to improve the Client's trading experience. Cookies are small files from the Client's web servers that may be stored on his/her device.
- 1.3.2 Cookies enable the Company to see how the Client can access the Site, which pages are visited, and if the Client is logged in on the Site. Cookies and other collected data from the Site will remain private and not be distributed or disclosed to third parties. Cookies do not contain account or password information, and the Company will not collect information about other websites that the Client visits.
- 1.3.3 The Client can manage his/her allowed and blocked cookies through the web browser he/she uses. By visiting the Company's Site, the Client acknowledges the terms, conditions, and risks herein. The Client can still use the Company's Services if he/she chooses to block the cookies from the Site, but some functions may be defective, limited, or not work as designed.

2 Data Security

2.1 Security of Information

- 2.1.1 The Company uses security software, systems, and procedures to provide Clients with a safe and secure trading environment. The Company also uses a Secure Socket Layer ("SSL") encryption technology to protect the information provided through the Site. The Company has also established security methods to protect the Client's personal, financial, trading, and investment information.
- 2.1.2 Despite the Company's best efforts to protect the Client's information, the Company cannot and does not guarantee that the collected data and private communications will always remain confidential.
- 2.1.3 The Client acknowledges that the Company will not be liable if any third party unlawfully intercepts or accesses transmissions or private communications. The Company hereby presumes that the Client understands and accepts those risks upon using the Company's Services.

2.2 Management and Safety of Funds

- 2.2.1 The Company regularly identifies, assesses, examines, and controls each type of risk related to its operation. The effectiveness of the policies, agreements, and procedures shall be able to cover the financial needs and capital requirements accordingly.
- 2.2.2 The Company is affiliated with top-tier banks that provide adequate safety measures for the Client's funds in an effort to be a reliable and transparent financial firm in the trading industry.

2.3 Encryption

- 2.3.1 The Company provides a secured connection using advanced firewalls and the SSL that encrypts and protects received information through servers. This security protocol also prevents data theft and unauthorized access by third parties. This also allows the Company to keep data integrity by ensuring that all data remains unchanged during transmissions.
- 2.3.2 In terms of using and performing a transaction (deposit and withdrawal) on the Company's Site, the collected data and information are encrypted. In addition, a security protocol protects personal information entered on the Site to prevent data leaks.
